

Pre-K Newsletter
Week of November 16 - 20th

Special Announcements:

We had a fun time on Thursday completing our Turkey Trot with the whole school. Thank you for all of your donations!

We have now entered flu season. Please do remember the DOE final deadline for your child's flu shot is December 31st. The flu shot is mandatory for attendance in Pre-K in January.

Please note Pre-K is closed on December 8th and December 14th.

Reminders:

- Please continue to encourage your child to dress themselves each morning, as well as to put on their jacket independently!
- We are practicing writing our names each day. Please continue to practice at home using an upper case initial letter and the other letters in lower case.

This week we read the book Press Here by Hervé Tullet. The children enjoyed an interactive experience with the book by using their sense of touch to make pages change as we read along.

We also created texture collages in the Science Center, using our new vocabulary and finding objects that were soft, hard, rough, smooth, bumpy and spiky.

At the Art Center we used textured materials to create our November self-portraits!

We also reviewed what we have learned about our five senses. We read I hear a Pickle by Rachel Isadora, and discussed how our senses help us understand the world around us and keep us safe.

Next week we will be discussing Thanksgiving!
